ADAMS SCRAPBOOK

The scrapbook is composed of clippings from about the time of World War 1 until the 1950's. They are pasted into: Report of the Superintendent of Insurance, Dominion of Canada, for the Year 1899. The clippings are not in any particular order, and the dates are jumbled. There is considerable emphasis on the Royal Families of Europe and poetry, but local marriages, births and deaths are also included. The Scrapbook contains genealogical research on the Hicks Family of Picton, and a number of clippings concerning same. A photograph of Mrs. Hicks Minaker has been moved to the photograph collection (N-3085). The scrapbook was donated by Shirley Adams.

THE MARY DALY COLLECTION OF SHEET MUSIC

This collection contains approximately 209 music sheets arranged for piano and/or voice, and dating between 1867-1939, with most items from 1890's-1933. The music is traditional in taste, and includes a large number of religious pieces, arrangements from classical composers and a certain number of popular songs. A complete index is available.
THE JAMES EADIE COLLECTION

This collection is still growing, but as of December, 1987, the contents were as follows.

Box 1

File - 'Prentice Boys

"The Protestant Association of 'Prentice Boys of America", or 'Prentice Boys were Irish ultra-Protestant lodges which sprang up in Northern Ireland and Britain shortly after the siege of Londonderry (from which incident they got their name). They thus pre-date the establishment of the Orange Lodges by many years.

Little is known of their early establishment in Canada. There is almost no secondary writing about this organization, nor is there any material at Queen's or at the Archives of Ontario (with the exception of a reference in the Perkins Bull Collection).

The following copies of 'Prentice Boys Annual Reports were photocopied from original pamphlets owned by Godfrey Barr of Camden East. Copies have also been deposited at Queen's Archives.

Annual Reports indicate that the Order was first organized in the Kingston area, and the first lodges were established in Frontenac County and the southern portion of Lennox & Addington. Lodge #2, for example, was on Amherst Island. The Grand Lodge of the organization held its annual meeting in Camden East (Lodge #10), in 1887. Selby was the location of Lodge #6. (James Eadie)

File - 'Prentice Boys contains copies of:
Annual Report, 12th Annual Session, Kingston, 1882
Annual Report, 14th Annual Session, Port Hope, 1884

J. ALEX EDMINSON COLLECTION

Dupuis Scrapbook
This scrapbook belonged to Dr. T.R. Dupuis, Physician. The clippings (which date from 1852-1932) are mounted in a book specially printed for the purpose by William Warwick, Toronto, and entitled "Literary Scraps". Dr. Dupuis kept an index by title at the beginning of the book. The scrapbook and was given to J. Alex Edmison, Q.C., Assistant to the Principal at Queen's University by F.H. Broder of Morrisburg in 1952. It was presented to the Lennox & Addington Historical Society in 1970.

In 1953, Mr. Edmison lent the scrapbook to the Kingston Whig-Standard. The editors singled out two clippings for particular comment. The first may have come from the London Free Press in 1861, and attacks Sir Henry Smith for a speech against the Conservative party. Smith was first Warden of the Kingston Penitentiary, and M.L.A. 1841-61. The second is a defamatory article on the "three poet clowns of Bath". A full index of the contents is provided in Appendix #2.

THE PERRY PAPERS

The Perry Family were active in Bath after the war of 1812. John W. Perry (active 1827-1867) seems to have been involved in many businesses, including gold mining (Napanee Mining Company), merchantile trade, a woolen mill and a distillery. He leased a carding mill from Benjamin Booth in 1827. In the 1830's, he was active in Camden; by 1839 in Napanee. In the course of business, Perry took notes [of "I.O.U's"], which he carefully saved even after the debt was paid. He may have also followed the sharp 19th century practice of buying notes owed to other men at discounts. A large portion of the collection consists of these notes.

A son, James Perry, owned and operated the woolen mill in Napanee until 1884.

Unfortunately, the collection was not properly sorted and arranged before being numbered. Arrangement by the accession number was thus rendered impossible. A compromise solution was to sort the receipts by date within each file.

The collection was split prior to 1959. A portion of the Perry Papers were microfilmed and indexed by the Public Archives of Canada as part of their inventory project. These papers compliment the papers inventoried here and are really part of the same collection.
